Accidents to Railroad Men.

Frank Lee, another experienced switchman, who took the place of one of the strikers, a few weeks ago, lost his life, yesterday morning. He was employed in the Bee-line yards, and was killed at the East-street crossing, while in the act of pulling a coupling-pin. A brake-beam of a car struck him, and his neck was broken. He was twenty-seven years of age, and lived at No. 27 Hickory street. He was peculiarly marked by having six fingers on each hand and six toes on each foot. John Nolan, a section hand on the I. & W. railroad, was killed in the yards of that road last night, at midnight. While crossing the network of tracks near the National road, an O. & I. locomotive struck him. Both legs were cut off and he was badly bruised about the head. Flanner & Buchanan took him to his home in Hawthorne where he died soon afterward. He was unmarried, and thirty years of age. Mack Stout, a brakeman employed in the Panhandle yards, had a bad fall last night by being caught between two cars. He resides at No. 230 East Market street.

The German Orphan's Fair.

The benefit fair in Menckner Hall, by the ladies of the German Protestant Orphan Society, closed very successfully last night. The attendance was unusually large, and all the articles in the booths were sold. During the early evening the Union orchestra played youra de music, and after 11 o'clock dancing was indulged in. The fair netted a very neat sum, which will all go to the home.

Charged with Bribery.

Marshall Hollingsworth, a farmer, residing in Pike township, was arrested last evening on a warrant from the county grand jury, charging him with bribing a voter on election day. He was not brought to the city, but gave a $1,000 bond at his home for his appearance in court.

Local News Notes.

Clark Wm. T. Noble received a letter, yesterday, addressed to him as "Clark of the Supreme Court." Marriage licenses were issued, yesterday, to James and Mattie Fribe, John Sanders and Mary J. Walters, Charles J. Murray and Nancy L. Nichols. Requisitions have been granted by Governor Gray for the return from Illinois of Timothy and Geo. W. Milne, charged with burglary and petit larceny in LaPorte county, this State.
The following building permits were issued yesterday: H. E. Watterson, frame cottage, No. 351 Fletcher avenue, $300; George West, brick cottage, Greenwood street, near Tenth, $600; C. H. Hilzberg, improvements, West street, near Washington, $100; recent, Brewing Company, stable and cattle department, Dillon street, near Louisiana, $3,000.

Personal and Society.

Mrs. Rose, of Decatur, Ill., is the guest of Mrs. W. A. Woods, on North Alabama street.
Hon. Byron K. Elliott entertained the Judges of the Supreme Court very handsomely at dinner last evening.
The Women's League of Meridian-street Church will meet in the parlors of that church, this afternoon, at 2 o'clock.
Mrs. H. P. Wetzel, who has been quite ill the past week, is some better. Her brother, Mr. Seymour, is still in the city.

Miss Estlin, of Boston, is spending a few days in the city with her cousin, Miss Jennie Estlin, before going to Florida for the winter.

Seats for the lecture of Lieutenant Schwatka, the second of the Indianapolis course, can be secured at Baldwin's music store this morning.

Miss Jessie Gibson has returned from a visit of several months in California, and is the guest of her brother, Mr. Louis Gibson, on North Pennsylvania street.

Judge Coffey, who has been off on an extended hunting trip, returned home this week. He reports having killed two quails and seen one bear, which latter experience accompanied his return.

Judge A. N. Dean, of Ohio, is in the city, and is stopping with Judge Walker. These gentlemen were once partners in the practice of the law. Judge Dean was colonel of the Seventy-ninth Ohio, which was one of the regiments in General Harrison's brigade. It was with the General, in the service for three years, and at the battle of Buena Vista.

The Young Ladies' Missionary Society of the Second Presbyterian Church was entertained yesterday afternoon by Miss Robinson at her home on East Michigan street. After the customary preliminaries, Miss Grotzle introduced and gave an exceedingly interesting talk on her recent missionary labors in Persia, as well as on the life, habits, manners, customs, schools and laws of that country.

Mr. Max Leckner and pupils gave a piano recital, last night, at D. H. Baldwin's music-store, before a large and appreciative audience. The piano recital was given by Miss Edith Kahn, Mrs. S. L. Kiser and Mrs. James R. Liley. Each acquitted herself excellently, playing with finish and taste. Mr. F. M. Loomis, of the popular basso, assisted vocally, and sang two songs, "Who Treads the Path of Duty" and "The Friar." The concerted music was as much perfection as any that can be. The ladies are drilled with that strict attention to every minor detail which characterizes all of Mr. Leckner's teaching. The recital was well received, exactly as the composer intended, instead of marring the performance by any carelessness, as common to most players. Miss Dietrich, Miss P. M. Loomis, Miss Kiser, Mrs. Liley, Miss Kahn, Miss Austin, Miss Ray and Miss Butler took part in the concerted numbers. The concert was exceedingly enjoyable and received with demonstrations of pleasure.

The annual fair, which is held between Thanksgiving day and Christmas, by the congregation and friends of Plymouth Church, was largely attended last night, notwithstanding the many other attractions in the way of receptions, concerts and different entertainments. The supper was not only bountiful and delicious, but served to make the patrons happy as well as liberal, judging from the sales at the tables, where caps, hand-painted sachets, and envelopes, home-made candy, bread, cake, pickles, preserves and jellies, the "fair" is remunerative. Financially, and socially draws together old and new members of the church, and particularly the children, who, on such occasions, are granted the full liberty of a holiday and enjoy plays, popcorn and cider to the fullest extent. The little girls last night were decorated with holders of every variety and shape, which was quite a feature in the evening.

THE DAY AT GENERAL HARRISON'S.

Visitors to Him and His Guests—What the President-Elect Said to a Reporter.

At the Harrison residence, yesterday, the President-elect spent most of the morning dictating letters, while his distinguished guest, the Vice-president-elect, feeling somewhat indisposed on account of a sore throat, remained the greater part of the time in his room. When he arose in the morning he found it difficult to talk above a loud whisper and suffered considerably, so much so that Mrs. Morton prevailed upon him to send for Dr. O. S. Runnels. In the evening Mr. Morton's throat was much better, and he conversed with but little noticeable difficulty. About 4 o'clock General Harrison and his guests went out for a short walk. Among the callers yesterday were General Washburn, of Minnesota, and Col. J. M. Underwood, of Minnesota. The latter gentleman is the president of the Harrison and Morton Club of Minneapolis, which has a membership of 2,000, of whom 600 have decided to attend the inauguration in a body, by special train. The Colonel came here for the purpose of securing from General Harrison a request to Governor Beaver, the grand marshal of the day, that the Minnesota men be accorded a prominent position in the inaugural parade.

Another caller of prominence was Gen. Henry Shippin Huidekoper, ex-postmaster of Philadelphia, who was removed by President Grant. His visit was a social one. Jno. W. Stubbs, J. H. Burford, J. A. Swoveland and M. R. Sulzer, members of the Republican State central committee, called about 5 o'clock and held a private consultation with General Harrison.

Mrs. Morton and Mrs. Harrison had a number of callers during the day. Shortly after 6 o'clock Mrs. Harrison, Mr. Morton, Mrs. Bergland and Mrs. McKee attended the 5 o'clock tea given by Mrs. Dr. R. H. Allen in honor of Mrs. Morton. At 6 o'clock General Harrison and Mr. Morton walked over to Dr. Allen's and joined their wives at tea. For a time General Harrison's house was besieged by the newspaper correspondents, who were in a flutter of excitement over a report published in New York, yesterday morning, to the effect that Mr. Blaine had been offered, and had accepted, the State portfolio. Among these newspaper representatives was a New York reporter, to whom, as it is reported, General Harrison said: "I thought it was understood that I was not to be interviewed."

"I have no intention of trying to interview you if you do not care to talk, General," replied the New York representative.
"I have stated repeatedly to representatives of the press that I would have nothing to say at any time in an interview. Special correspondents have come to me with questions that in one or two instances I have not even permitted them to ask, and I have said time and again that I would not talk upon any subject for publication. I supposed that it was understood, and if it is not, I want it thoroughly understood at once, that I cannot and will not allow myself to be placed in the position of either affirming or denying any reports that may be put in circulation by newspapers. Even if they should be true, I would have nothing whatever to say about them."

"But this report is of such an extraordinary nature that it makes no difference what is the nature of the report, or through what channel it comes. I cannot allow myself to be troubled with questions about such things. If I should say anything once I would be expected to repeat it, and you can see what it would lead to. I might as well undertake to keep the public informed as to what I have in mind, and it would amount to what I should take upon the newspaper reports every morning, and say this is true or that is not true. You gentlemen may go on with your speculation and so what you think will be done, but I must not be asked to confirm or deny the reports that are put in circulation. I say this in all kindness, but I hope it will be understood all around that I will not allow myself to be placed in the position of determining the trustworthiness of any report, no matter how important or from what source it comes."

AMUSEMENTS.

MRS. SHAW, THE WHISTLER.
A brilliant audience filled the Grand Opera-house, last night, to hear Mrs. Alice J. Shaw, the artistic whistler, render some of the most difficult, as well as popular music in a manner that passes description. With an attractive presence and a grace of movement she captivated the audience before she had fairly reached the beauty and spirit of her first number. The uses her whistling organ with no visible exertion. She pursues up her mouth and the notes fall bird-like from her ready lips, producing the almost impossible feat of looking pretty while she whistles. Her trilling measures, trills and runs are more effective than when prolonged efforts or sustained accents are required. Her singular music has the chirping of the canary and the sweetness of the mocking-bird. Mrs. Shaw has a very correct taste in artistic expression, and employs her crescendo and diminuendo and ritard with all the air and graces of a Fatti. After each number the applause was most intense, the cheering being frequent. In addition to Mrs. Shaw's performance the concert was rounded out by numbers from other artists.

THE SOUTHERN ENGAGEMENT.

Mr. E. H. Sothern and his comedy company will fill the first half of the coming week at the Grand Opera-house, producing the new comedy, "Lord Chumley." The success this play attained at the Lyceum Theater, in New York, during the present fall carries with it a promise that the present engagement will be a brilliant one. "Lord Chumley" was written with the idea of giving Mr. Sothern a part suited to his abilities, the character being that of a young nobleman, of good reputation but apparently little brains, who finds his friend, the brother of his sweetheart, in the power of a scheming villain. Chumley then through his "dumbliness" and develops surprising activity and shrewdness and, with considerable self-sacrifice and clever plotting, sets matters right, drives the villain away and marries the girl of his choice. Mr. Sothern is surrounded by a company including C. R. Bishop, Herbert Archer, Pello Archer, Rowland Beck, Kate Pattison, and Adeline. Miss Willie Wilson, George Backus, Cyril Scott and Tully Marshall. No matinee will be given Wednesday. The sale of seats begins this morning.

ENGLISH'S OPERA-HOUSE.

Last evening a good audience witnessed the first production here of "Terry, the Swell," a drama that gives an opportunity for some noticeable character acting, and brings especially into play a combination of accessories that is novel and effective. Harry B. Bell has the title role, and presents it with a dash, humor and force that makes it interesting. The company does good work. The play will be repeated this afternoon and evening.

NOTES.

Harry Kernell's big specialty company, which is composed of twenty of the cleverest performers in the profession, will be at the Park all next week. Florence Bindley closes her engagement there to-night in "The Danites."

In the sale of seats one of the largest audiences that has ever been in the Grand Opera-house is promised for to-night, on the occasion of Nye and Riley's appearance, and the audience is expected to have a strong hold on Indianapolis audiences.

REPUBLICAN ORGANIZATION.

The Columbia Club is to be made a permanent organization. At a meeting of the members of the Columbia Club, recently held, it was resolved to incorporate a stock company, for the purpose of forming a permanent political and social club, after the pattern of the Union League and Lincoln Clubs. A committee was appointed to draft a scheme and prepare the necessary papers for the forming of the corporation and opening subscription books. This committee has been at work for several days, and has just finished the preparations for the canvass for subscriptions. The capital stock has been placed at $30,000, divided into three hundred shares of $100 each. Among those who have subscribed for the stock are the following gentlemen:

The gentlemen interested with the duty of canvassing for subscribers were at the dining room yesterday and at a meeting of the committee last evening reported that one hundred shares have already been taken. It is intended to immediately purchase a fine building, centrally located, down town, suitable for club purposes, and to fit the same up with a meeting hall, consultation, reading and reception-rooms and with all the accessories of a first-class club.

The Harrison Clubs.

There will be a joint meeting in the Council Chamber, to-night, of the Harrison Home and Marion County Harrison clubs to hear the report from the committee representing these two organizations concerning a plan of consolidation. It is proposed to give the new club a permanency, and to provide rooms where social courtesies can be observed, while the interests of the Republican party are being looked after.

Cheap Rates Offered.

The Central Traffic Association, at the request of Secretary Heron, of the State Board of Agriculture, has granted excursion rates from all points in Indiana to all persons who desire to attend the meetings here of the various industrial associations next month. The round trip rates will be one and one-third those usually charged for single trip tickets. The service is appreciated by members of the associations, as is evidenced by several letters on file in the Agricultural Department.

Favor a Temporary Commission.

George A. Knight, of Brazil, who was in the city yesterday, says the lawyers of Clay county are practically unanimous in favor of the passage of a constitutional amendment which will permit the Legislature to increase the number of Supreme Court judges to such an extent that the business of the court can be handled without delay. Pending the adoption of such an amendment and legislation under it, the Clay county lawyers favor the revival of the commission plan for clearing the present overburdened docket.

Neuralgia of the Heart.

A young man named Harry Wills, living on West Maryland street, was taken very sick with neuralgia of the heart at the close of the Murphy meeting last evening, and after being actively worked with for a half hour, was taken home. It was thought for some moments that he must die, but he began to rally and is thought to be out of danger.

The Commercial Travelers.

There will be a meeting of the Commercial Travelers at the Grand Hotel, this evening, to make final arrangements for the ball and banquet to be given on the occasion of the annual meeting of the association, Jan. 4 and 5. All members are requested to attend this evening.

The new atlas of Indianapolis and Marion county, being prepared by Messrs. Griffin, Gordon & Co., is nearly completed. The plates of the city and county have all been thoroughly revised and corrected by competent men during the past summer, and will soon be published in atlas form, 16 by 20 inches, a most convenient size. To include, also, an index to city plats, subdivisions and additions, giving the atlas page on which it can be found; also, the page and plat-book in which it is recorded, making their atlas a most valuable work.
